

NEW CITY GOVERNMENT ASSUMED CONTROL TODAY

WIFE ST. LOUIS DOCTOR AWAITS RANSOM PLEA

Officers Made No Headway In Solution Of Kelley Kidnaping

St. Louis, Mo., April 22—(UP)—The wealthy wife of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, kidnaped physician, sat today near the telephone in her stone mansion, fighting off hysterics as she waited hopefully for the abductors to approach her for a ransom fee.

Only one mysterious telephone message had been received to give a hint of his whereabouts since Kelley drove out to a pouring rain Monday night to answer what turned out to be a fictitious emergency call. The message was to Detective Chief John Kaiser and informed him that Dr. Kelley was "in Chicago and all right." Before Kaiser could reply, the receiver clicked. The call could not be traced, Kaiser thought it was "from a crank."

Police today arrested Edward "Cocky" Leonard, police character who was questioned in 1930 in connection with the kidnaping of Michael Katz, millionaire druggist of Kansas City.

Held On Suspicion
Leonard was arrested on suspicion after police learned he owned a yellow automobile similar to one containing six stolen cars which crossed the Lewis & Clark bridge over the Mississippi Monday night.

Mrs. Kelley received many sympathetic calls from society friends. She is the former Kathleen McBride, a daughter of William Cullen McBride, multimillionaire oil magnate who died in 1917. Her fortune is estimated at several millions.

Kelley's two young children, Anne and Mary Ellen, were taken from their private school to the home of a friend. They were told of their father's disappearance.

Detectives, lawyers and friends of the family remained in the Kelley home all night. From a source close to the family it was learned that Mrs. Kelley was willing to "pay any ransom" for her husband's safe return.

No Secret Moves
Early today, E. R. Christman, one of the attorneys said no secret attempt to communicate with the kidnapers was being made and police would be notified if the abductors attempted to negotiate.

Dr. Kelley is a descendant of one of the founders of St. Louis. Mrs. Kelley is related through marriage to several leading families.

The missing man has been one of the city's leading physicians for a decade. He was a nose and ear specialist, and prided himself on adhering to his duties despite his wealth. He was known never to shirk an emergency call, no matter what the hour.

A man of 45, weighing 200 pounds, and six feet two inches tall, he would have been more than a match for unarmed assailants. He was under fire for months in France during the war, serving both in the British and American Armies. He kept himself in fine condition through horseback riding.

Ring Found In Car
The car he drove away in, one of four he owned, was found near a highway that leads to two Mississippi river bridges. Tucked under the cushion of the driver's seat was Kelley's diamond ring. Police believed he had thrust it there when he realized the purpose of the men with him. From footprints of oil stained shoes, officers theorized there were two men in the car with Kelley before it was abandoned.

The section to which Kelley was called was searched thoroughly. No one reported seeing the doctor's car. Sheriff Al Lill was convinced the physician was kidnaped near his estate.

The kidnaping was the ninth in this vicinity in recent months; five of the other victims were gamblers, two grocers, and the other was Adolphus Busch Orthwein, 13-year-old heir to the Busch brewery millions. Young Orthwein was released 18 hours after being abducted, but the other victims were reported to have paid a total of more than $100,000 ransom.

TEACHER-AUTHOR DEAD
Galesburg, Ill., April 22—(UP)—Miss P. Lillian Taylor, author of many public school text books and a teacher in the Galesburg schools for more than 50 years, died here today. She was graduate of Mt. Holyoke College and held a master's degree from Knox College.

AMBITION REALIZED
Carbondale, Ill., April 22—(AP)—After serving as councilman for 25 years, Joe M. Anderson, a retired railway shopman, realized an ambition and became mayor yesterday at the age of 66 years. He defeated Homer D. Lee, former County Treasurer.

St. Louis Doctor Kidnaped

Dr. I. D. Kelley, Jr., prominent eye, ear, nose and throat specialist of St. Louis, and son-in-law of the late William Cullen McBride, wealthy oil magnate, was lured from his home by a phone call supposedly requesting his services as a physician, and kidnaped, according to his wife, Dr. I. D. Kelley, Jr., is shown here with his wife, Mrs. Kathleen McBride Kelley.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

GOODFELLOW DONATION.

The Church of God has made a fine donation to the Goodfellow fund, sending in 26. From a congregation of 60 members this is very generous.

LAST COUNCIL MEETING.

The final official session of the retiring city council was held last evening at the city hall at which time the chief business to come before the commission was the official canvass of the election. Mayor Frank D. Palmer appointed the entire council as the canvassing board.

Commissioner Charles E. Miller's motion, in which he asked the council to forward a receipted bill of $100 to the city administration of Mr. Morris for the service of the Dixon fire truck at the Mt. Morris college fire Sunday, April 5 was unanimously adopted. A few bills against the city were ordered paid.

PRISONER HAD "SAP."

A rudely constructed "billy" or "sap," which was made from a piece of heavy steel and wrapped with discarded articles of clothing, was taken from the pockets of a prisoner in the Lee county jail by Sheriff Fred Richardson last night. The sheriff learned that the prisoner had armed himself with the implement of his own handiwork, which was said to have been planned to be used in the event that he was taken from the county jail to the court house in the custody of a single officer. The same prisoner was said to have been implicated in the attempted jail delivery recently.

MORE "FIRST SWIMMERS."

John White reported this morning that he jumped into Rock river Monday afternoon, March 23, and thereby claims to be one of the first to test the waters for swimming. He suffered no ill results and thus far rates the first to undertake the chilly task.

Eugene McMillon, aged 14, also claims the distinction of having been one of the early swimmers to test the waters of Rock river this spring. Quite a crop of early bathers has appeared during the past few days. Eugene claims to have witnessed to the fact that he took his initial dive in the waters of the Rock on March 24 during the regular spring vacation at a point along the south shore just east of the city limits where the old ice house formerly stood.

Business Block In Capital Threatened

Washington, Apr. 22—(UP)—Fire early today which for a time threatened an entire congested business block in downtown Washington was brought under control after three hours. Five alarms brought apparatus from all over Washington.

Three firemen were injured, one perhaps seriously. Struck on the head by a falling timber, he was removed to a hospital for treatment. The fire, originating in an automobile accessory shop at 9th and E. Streets, gained great headway before firemen arrived. It soon spread to a shoe store next door, but was held in check from that point. The accessory store was destroyed, and "virtually none of the stock saved."

CO-OP. ENTERPRISE BURNS

Thornstown, Ind., Apr. 22—(UP)—The main building of the Pure Serum Company, a cooperative enterprise owned by 3000 farmers, was destroyed by fire today with an estimated loss of $80,000 to $100,000.

Explosion of an overheated barrel of tar was blamed for the blaze. Firemen were unable to enter the building when ammonia pipes burst, filling the rooms with fumes.

WEST BROOKLYN'S SPUR TO FOLLOW STATE-AID ROADS

Which Will Make It 3.5 Miles Long Instead Of Planned 1.5 Miles

The spur which will be built from Lee county's share of gas tax connecting West Brooklyn with state highway route 70, will be approximately three and one-half miles in length instead of one and one-half miles as was originally planned, the Board of Supervisors decided in their final session of the organization meeting yesterday afternoon. Because the road running south and east of the village is not a state aid road as is required under the law on which gas tax is to be expended, the route decided upon will extend one-half mile north of the village to the old Chicago road and then east three miles to state highway route 70.

All of the bridges and culverts have been constructed and the right of way is clear for this improvement in the east end of the county. County Superintendent of Highway Fred W. Leake stated, some right of way having been secured last summer.

The road and bridge commission granted county aid to Palmyra township in the construction of a box culvert.

Blind Pension Allowed
The judiciary committee reported favorably on the application for a blind pension for Mrs. Mary Ruggles of this city.

Edward M. Graybill of this city appeared before the board yesterday afternoon and stated that but $5,000 insurance was being carried on the court house building. He advised an engineering inspection of all county-owned property but the board took no official action.

Supervisor Leon Garrison told the board he made a trip to Springfield recently in the interest of the bovine tuberculosis campaign in Lee county. He stated that no relief was being granted Illinois counties by the state in the payment of salaries by county veterinarians. In discussing the possibility of securing state veterinarians to expedite the completion of the testing in Lee county, Supervisor Garrison stated that this could not be done until July 1 when federal appropriations would be available.

BOXING BILL FACES DEFEAT; IS WITHDRAWN

Promised Support Of Measure Failed To Show Up Today

Springfield, Ill., April 22—(AP)—Anticipating certain defeat for his emergency boxing commission bill, Frank E. Foster, Republican of Harvey, this morning stopped a roll call and asked leave to have consideration postponed, till he had "learned what the matter."

A roll call on the bill was the first item of business in the House of Representatives this morning. Foster explained that the bill was designed to attract more prize fights to Illinois, that it would legalize professional 15 round bouts, and 4 round amateur bouts, and that it increased the salaries of the boxing commissioners.

F. W. Lewis, Democrat, of Robinson, and James Curran, Republican, Chicago, spoke against it. Lewis declared the "principal object of the bill was to increase salaries," which he said he regarded as the "wrong thing to do at this time. Curran was the last man to vote, answering "no" on roll call, and then rising to explain his vote, when Foster asked permission to withdraw the bill.

Many men who had promised him to support the bill, he said afterward, were voting against it. "I'll defer a roll call for a week," he said, "until I learn what the matter with the bill. I'll remove the emergency clause, so it will pass by a majority vote, instead of the two thirds or 102 votes needed for an emergency bill."

Issue Of Warrants For Taxes Put Off

Springfield, Ill., April 22—(AP)—State Treasurer Edward J. Barrett announced today that payment into the Treasury by Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom of $2,500,000 of inheritance taxes collected in Cook county had boosted the state fund to nearly $4,000,000 and had made issuance of tax anticipation warrants unnecessary for that fund. The amount, it was announced, would tide the state over, perhaps until due taxes from Chicago are paid.

NEGRO LIKED PRISON LIFE
Clarksdale, Miss.—(UP)—When a negro known as "Uncle Henry" 94, was released from the state prison farm here authorities had trouble in making him leave the grounds. He said he liked the place and the inmates so well he didn't want to leave. He served a short term on a state charge.

Oddities in the NEWS

EVERYONE FOR HIMSELF
Gladstone, Ill., Apr. 22—(AP)—Every voter for himself and "devil take the hindmost" is Gladstone's motto in village elections. Forty-three votes were cast for village offices yesterday, and 43 different names were written in.

SERVES FOR LOVE
Hoopston, Ill., Apr. 22—(AP)—Henry Richcreek is now His Honor, the mayor.

Richcreek is a wealthy realtor—and it's a good thing. The mayor's office in Hoopston draws only 50 cents a year salary.

Yesterday's election was the hottest in years. Richcreek defeated two candidates. The four aldermen draw an annual salary of 25 cents.

PROMISES FUTILE
Schiller Park, Ill., Apr. 22—(AP)—Apparently the appeal Mrs. Julia Kolze made to the voters to elect her village president was not strong enough.

She promised that if and when she was elected she would buy every child in the town an ice cream cone. Yesterday the election was held and Mrs. Kolze was defeated by her male opponent, Charles H. Ziese.

NOTHING COMING OFF
Evanston, Ill., Apr. 22—(AP)—Nothing's coming off at Northwestern University!

Take it straight from the Dean of Women, Mrs. Florence Robnett.

One hundred posters advertising the university's annual water circus were ordered stripped from campus trees today by the dean. Hundreds more, ready for posting, were burned.

Mrs. Robnett went into action after seeing the first poster this morning.

It portrayed, in gay and gaudy colors, a laughing co-ed-clad only as a barrel, and below were the words:

"Something's coming off!"

CAT HEIRESS DEAD

San Gabriel, Cal., Apr. 22—(UP)—Mitzl, an 18-year-old Persian cat which received a $15,000 legacy from the late Dr. Maude F. Cain, was buried today under a plum tree in the garden of the only home she had.

Mitzl lived only six months longer than her mistress. Heart disease caused her death. A certificate of death was filed today, clearing the way for legal moves which will transfer the $15,000 inheritance to Miss Otella Kuschke, life-long companion of Dr. Cain. Miss Kuschke, also received the balance of the estate, estimated at nearly $500,000.

The $15,000 left Mitzl had been placed in trust to provide a home and care for the cat until her death. The will was approved in Probate Court after a long legal skirmish.

DISBELIEVING JUDGE

Chicago, Apr. 22—(AP)—If there is anything Judge Joseph David likes it's to have everybody satisfied.

He tried to satisfy William Doyle, an alleged gunman yesterday by giving him two trials on the same day for the same offense, but the result—a year in jail and a $300 fine—was the same in both instances, as the Judge was unconvinced that the hardware Doyle had in a hotel was anything more than underwear.

"I didn't have a fair trial," Doyle protested at the conclusion of his first trial on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. "And I wasn't properly represented."

"What," said the Judge, "you didn't have a fair trial? There's a good lawyer over there, and we'll have a new trial."

Doyle took the stand at the second hearing, declaring the package a detective found under his arm contained nothing but a pair of pajamas.

"I don't believe you," said the Judge. "The sentence is a year in jail and a $300 fine."

Doyle said he would appeal.

NorthWestern Runs Buses To St. Paul

Chicago, Apr. 22—(AP)—Passenger bus service between Chicago and the Twin Cities by way of Milwaukee will be started Saturday by the Inter-state Line, subsidiary of the Chicago & North Western and the Union Pacific Railroads.

The buses will run twice daily in each direction, routed through Waukegan, Ill.; Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee, Fond Du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Stevens Point, Marshfield, Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire, Wis. The two railroads already operate bus lines between here and the Pacific coast.

TENEMENT FIRE FATAL

New York, Apr. 22—(AP)—Flames that destroyed a five-story tenement at Park Avenue and 116th Street just before dawn today, killed one man, injured 17 persons and left 100 homeless.

NEW CITY COMMISSIONERS ALL RESIDE ON CRAWFORD; DIXON ELECTED NEW MAYOR

Band Tax Carried By Good Margin; Simonson Returned

MAYOR OF DIXON

GEORGE C. DIXON.

In yesterday's election, at which a total of 3,519 votes were cast, Attorney George C. Dixon, who lives at 411 E. McKinney street, was chosen mayor, decisively defeating William V. Slothower, a former city commissioner, 2,289 to 1,163.

By strange coincidence all four of the gentlemen who were elected commissioners reside on Crawford avenue, the successful candidates in the order in which they finished and their addresses being:

John H. Loftus, 115 Crawford Ave. Hiram A. Brooks, 623 Crawford Ave. George C. Campbell, 317 Crawford Ave. Herbert Nichols, 304 Crawford Ave.

Order of Finish

The total vote polled by the eight candidates for commissioner was: Loftus, 2,192; Brooks, 1,975; Campbell, 1,840; Nichols, 1,651; Adams, 1,561; Schumm, 1,214; Sproul, 1,124; and Miller, 619.

For the office of Police Magistrate, A. E. Simonson was elected over Robert Connors, 1,256 to 913; and the proposition for the levy of a band tax carried 1,695 to 1,439.

The tabulated vote of the election will be found on page 2 of this issue of The Telegraph.

Sterling Election

In a spirited election in Sterling Mayor Harry Burkholder was re-elected over W. J. McDonald, a former mayor and alderman, 1,931 to 1,783.

The vote was commissioner in that city was: Linn, 2,190; Olmstead, 2,183; Stager, 2,027; Palmer, 1,985; Conlon, 1,678; Cooley, 1,211; Baker, 864; and Haver, 308.

Frank Stevens, former Dixon publisher, who has many friends in Dixon and Lee county, was elected mayor at Sycamore.

At LaSalle Dr. H. M. Orr was chosen mayor over Frank S. Bryzgot, the incumbent.

Results Elsewhere

At Rochelle C. P. Unger was elected mayor without opposition, received 1,073 votes. The ordinance extending the franchise of the Rochelle Gas Co., for 25 years, passed 683 to 493; and the vote for commission was: J. H. Russell, 893; W. T. Hayes, 857; W. V. Wierke, 815; T. L. Schade, 775; S. M. Hawker, 516; and N. E. Horton, 462.

In Polo the only opposition was to Jas. C. Hackett for mayor, 21 friends of James W. Sweet writing his name of the ballot. Hackett polled 372 votes. For clerk Geo. H. Butts received 372; E. J. Dehl got 357 for treasurer and the three candidates for alderman polled: A. J. Hersch, 387; B. A. Meunich, 373 and Bryant Bomberger, 325.

ILLINOIS ELECTIONS

By Associated Press

Occasional touches of violence marred an otherwise peaceful municipal election day in Illinois yesterday.

Record votes were reported from many localities.

Issues at stake caused a kidnaping in Niles, the arrest of two policemen in Mattoon, an alleged attempt to vote floaters in Forest View, and the arrest of the Mayor of Venice, together with three of his policemen and a supporter.

Frank Calhoun and James Cisna, Mattoon policemen, were out today on bonds of $13,000 each charged with assault and battery and interfering with voters. The officers, early yesterday, arrested Otis Canary, after they had warned him not to vote. He was placed in jail on a charge of resisting an officer. Later they also arrested Frank Tate, an alderman, and placed him in jail on a charge of buying votes. When Assistant Supervisor Thomas McNutt tried to bail Tate out, the policemen, threw him, too, in jail.

In Venice Mayor J. E. Lee, three policemen and a worker were arrested, charged with beating a voter. Five men were arrested in a Forest View raid after citizens complained that floaters were being voted from it.

William Mandernack, former Chief of Police of Niles, was kidnaped by eight men. He was later rescued and rested.

MAYOR DIXON AND COUNCIL GIVEN OATHS

Commissioners Meet To Decide Assignment To Departments

Attorney George C. Dixon assumed the office of mayor of the city of Dixon at 10:30 this morning when he was sworn in by retiring Mayor Frank D. Palmer. The old council convened in adjourned session at 10 o'clock and Mayor Palmer appointed City Clerk Blake Grover to escort the Mayor-elect to the chair, where he administered the oath of office after officially adjourning the council, and presenting Mayor Dixon with the gold badge of authority.

Before the old council adjourned, City Clerk Blake Grover presented the retiring mayor and commissioners, C. E. Miller and Louis Schumm with presents and each of the three made short talks as they retired from their desks. Mayor Dixon's first official act was the swearing in of Attorney H. A. Brooks and Herbert S. Nichols, new members of the council and the two hold over members, John H. Loftus and George C. Campbell. Mayor Dixon extended to his predecessor in office, who has served the city for 12 consecutive years, four as commissioner and eight as mayor, the appreciation of the citizens as well as to the two retiring council members. In assuming the office Mayor Dixon said:

Mayor's Statement.

"My election as Mayor of the City of Dixon, with the largest vote and the greatest majority ever recorded for that office, is a compliment for which I will endeavor to show my appreciation to the citizens of the city by a fair and impartial administration of the office. I regard the oath I have taken seriously and will follow it to the best of my ability."

"I believe the theory of the Commission Form of Government should be followed in practical operation so that each Commissioner should be individually responsible for the action of his department, except where duty of his department, or directed by the action of the Council. I have made no promises regarding any official act and am not obliged other than to faithfully perform the duties of the office."

"Citizens having complaints or suggestions regarding city government will be welcome to submit their views at any city council meeting and will be extended a full hearing and every possible courtesy. Attendance of citizens at city Council meetings would promote a better understanding by the people in regard to public business and should be encouraged."

"The existing overwhelming sentiment among the majority of the citizens of Dixon regarding public utilities is unfortunate. I believe most of it could have been avoided if the people had been kept better informed as matters progressed. There must be full publicity on all matters pertaining to any public utility question, and on that I ask the cooperation of the corporations concerned. They are substantial institutions of great value to our city and as far as I am concerned they will be given fair treatment by the city."

"I hope the people of Dixon will support the officials in the performance of their duties and cooperate on all public movements calculated to advance the progress and general welfare of our city."

Meet This Afternoon.

The council then recessed and returned to the mayor's office for a conference to decide the assignment of the commissioners to the various departments and to consider the list of appointments. They remained in session until the noon hour and then left the city hall to reconvene at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Some difficulty in assigning the commissioners to the four departments was reported to have arisen in the closed session, but at the noon recess this was said to have been partially settled and it was expected that the assignments would be made early in the afternoon session.

Rumors Are Heard.

Indications early this afternoon appointed to no change in departments insofar as Commissioners John Loftus and George Campbell were concerned. It was rumored that Commissioner Campbell would continue in charge of the Department.

Rockford Home Is Robbed Of Big Sum
Rockford, Ill., April 22—(UP)—A well dressed gunman imprisoned the Borden company, 22-year-old maid at the Elmer R. Palmke home, in a small clothes closet yesterday and leisurely robbed the home of jewelry and clothing valued at between $4,000 and $5,000.
Miss Carlson was near collapse when she was released by members of the family after being confined in the closet for seven hours.
The maid was confronted by the gunman when she answered the door bell. She was ordered to the second floor and locked up. For the next two hours the gunman gathered up jewelry, silverware and clothing. An accomplice then arrived with an automobile and the pair escaped.

Sentenced To Die Nine Times; Jailed
Dusseldorf, Germany, Apr. 22—(AP)—Peter Kuerten was sentenced to death nine times today for that many murders in this vicinity. He also received a fifteen year term in the penitentiary in addition to the loss of his civic rights and the costs of the court action.
Kuerten had confessed to nearly a hundred fender murders here in recent years. A number of girls whom he had attacked identified him and testified against him during the trial. Physicians testified that he was sane at the time of his crimes.

Arbor Day Being Celebrated Today
Nebraska City, Neb., Apr. 22—(AP)—Arbor Day, born on the once treeless plains of Nebraska, was celebrated today. It has legal recognition in many states of the nation.
It is a day for planting trees. School children in hundreds of towns place saplings in the ground. Farmers and city folk set out scores of seedlings or their single shoots, and pioneers of prairie Nebraska hark back to days when they had to ride miles to find a stick to switch a dog.
Arbor Day became a fact in 1872. J. Sterling Morton, statesman, artist, writer and business man, proposed to the Nebraska Board of Agriculture a resolution for observance of the day. His suggestion won approval.

PLANE DESCENDS ON WHITE HOUSE LAWN THIS MORN

Autogiro Landed Near Executive Mansion For First Time

Washington, April 22—(UP)—An aircraft landed in the White House grounds for the first time in history today when James G. Ray piloted a Pitcairn-Cierva autogiro down beside the Executive Mansion.

The craft settled down on the south lawn just before President Hoover presented to Harold P. Pittcairn the Collier Trophy for the "greatest achievement of aviation in America" during 1930. Pittcairn and his associates have developed the autogiro in this country.

Ray circled the White House twice and then floated his "windmill" down in a space 100 feet wide and 300 feet long directly behind the White House. He stopped in a space of about 20 feet.

President Hoover shook hands with Ray as he climbed out and a notable group of aeronautic leaders, including Orville Wright, received him. Mrs. Hoover and the President's grandchildren, Peggy Ann and Herbert, III, watched from the porch.

President Hoover after the presentation retired to the south portico of the White House, where with Mrs. Hoover and his two children he watched pilot Ray take off from the White House lawn in an almost vertical ascent.

Practical Club In Entertaining Meet

The Practical Club met at the home of Mrs. C. Mellott on Tuesday afternoon with fourteen members and one guest present.

After the short business meeting the paper of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Rowena Powell, on Birds. In her usual interesting way she told of a number of birds that came under her own observation, having fed them in the winter and watched them in summer, their ways and habits. In closing she said that making is dependent on these feathered friends of ours, as they eat annually millions of insects and worms which prey on fruits, grains, and animals, and if there were no birds to eat these insects, that in years to come our own existence would be threatened. More interest is being taken in birds, shown by the number of people who provide bird houses for them.

After this most entertaining paper roll call was responded to by all favorite movie actor. Mrs. Mellott then served delicious refreshments ending a happy afternoon.

Helen Keller Gets Thrill Of The Air

Washington, April 22—(AP)—Helen Keller, famed for the things she has accomplished despite blindness, has added to her other experience the thrill of her first airplane ride.

At the home in the clouds, in her own words, Miss Keller soared among them for the first time when she flew from Newark to Washington for her luncheon today at the White House.

Sensitive nerves painted the picture of the flight for her, she said, as variations in speed were transmitted by vibrations in the craft. She informed friends with her they were landing while the motor died down.

When the plane climbed or descended, she knew it, despite her deafness, by "listening" to the vibrating motors and feeling the slant of the craft. Her friends "described" scenes below by tapping their messages on her hand as they flew.

"I felt free and unafraid," Miss Keller said, adding that she was "perfectly at home in the clouds," and that she got a "great kick" out of the trip.

SARANI CLUB MET WITH MRS. A. PENNY

The Sarani club met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Penny, 902 Fourth street last evening, at which time two tables of bridge were enjoyed. Mrs. Dusing was awarded high favor and Mrs. John Keyser, the consolation trophy. Mrs. Mayme Hill was a guest during the evening.

MRS. JOS DAUNTIER WAS 85 ON SUNDAY

Mrs. Joseph Dauntier celebrated her 85th birthday anniversary Sunday at her home. Her daughter, Mrs. Henry Schmenke of Davenport and two children, Miss Dorothy and Robert and Mr. and Mrs. John Voght of Rock Island spent the day at the Dauntier home.

TO ATTEND WEDDING OF COUSIN SATURDAY

Mrs. Alice Beede will go to Davenport tomorrow for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wyman and on Saturday the party will attend the wedding of their cousin, Miss Margaret White, in Monmouth. The young lady is to marry Ben Cable, editor of the Rock Island Argus.

Briton Wins Girl Once Engaged To American Youth

London, April 22—(UP)—Miss Valerie French, granddaughter of the late Field Marshal Sir John French, Earl of Ypres, was married Thursday at St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, to Victor Henry Peter Brougham, fourth Baron of Brougham and Vaux.

After the reception, the bride and groom departed for a honeymoon in Italy.

In the background of the wedding lay a romantic story of competition between a young American millionaire and a wealthy titled Briton. Two continents have been interested, and publicity has attached to all or some of the principles as far back as 1926 although the bride and groom today were both still only 21 years of age.

The engagement of Miss French to Henry B. Martin, Jr., grandson of Andrew Carnegie's partner and son of a New York capitalist, was announced in October, 1926, but before many months it was intimated the engagement did not exist. Their parents thought they were too young and in 1928 the betrothal was broken off, only to be announced once more in New York and London on July 30, 1929.

A month after Martin graduated from Oxford he was critically injured in an automobile wreck in Denver. Immediately upon hearing of that Miss French rushed on board the Homeric for New York, neglecting to take her passport but succeeding in passing immigration authorities nevertheless, and hurried to Denver where she remained until Martin was out of danger. It was thought she might marry Martin there; then it was said they would marry in London in a year.

But Martin married Miss Katharine Kennedy Tod of New York last September and last month it became known that Miss French was to wed the Baron of Brougham and Vaux. He inherited about $1,000,000 last year and has a seat at Penrith, Cumberland.

Actress' Friends Mystified By Her Postponed Wedding

By DAN CAMPBELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Honolulu, T. H., April 22—(UP)—Friends of Dorothy Mackaill, the film actress, were puzzled today as to why her sudden plans for a Hawaiian wedding were just as suddenly terminated.

Both the prospective bridegroom, Neil Albert Miller, sugar planter and member of a prominent Los Angeles family, and the judge who was to perform the ceremony were left waiting by Miss Mackaill after she had spent the day arranging special dispensations to secure the marriage license.

Judge Francis Brooks, whose intercession with Hawaiian officials resulted in the issuance of the license, was waiting to be called to the wedding when Miller telephoned him.

"There's been a hitch," Miller said. "The wedding must be postponed."

Miss Mackaill confirmed this with the statement that "maybe we will be married at some future time on the mainland." Later she was seen driving around famous Diamond head with her mother, they were reported to be arguing.

Among the reasons considered by her friends for the abrupt halt was that Walter Byron, English actor who has been in Hollywood, may have had some influence in the affair. Miss Mackaill has been reported engaged to Byron, but it could not be learned whether it was the actress or her mother who favored him.

Miss Mackaill and Miller went to great trouble yesterday to obtain her divorce decree from Lothar Mendes, scene director. Then she was informed that a three-day wait was necessary. But a friend of Judge Brooks appeared and soon the license was issued.

Miller gave his age as 25 and Miss Mackaill said she was 26.

The actress will sail for California Saturday. Malolo is to start a new picture.

Mary Garden Not To Be With Chicago Co.

Chicago, April 22—(UP)—Mary Garden, Chicago's favorite opera singer, has withdrawn, for a year at least, from the Chicago Civic Opera Company, John Clayton, publicity director, said today.

Miss Garden, leading soprano for many years with the company that is now housed in a 42-story skyscraper opera house, didn't sign a contract for next season "by mutual agreement," Clayton said.

Asked if Miss Garden's retirement was the result of a quarrel, as has been rumored recently, Clayton said, "We never comment on the retirement of an artist."

Two of the roles Miss Garden made famous have been taken care of. Claudia Muzio probably will sing Flora in "L'Amore Del Tre" and Conchita Supervia probably will sing the title role in "Carmen."

Miss Garden has been singing at Monte Carlo and may not return to America next season, it was said.

Protests Speech Of President Of D. A. R.

By LYLE C. WILSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 22—(UP)—A dissenting Daughter of the American Revolution today distributed to the press copies of a telegram addressed to Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, D. A. R. President-General, protesting against "the spirit of reaction expressed in your speech before the D. A. R. convention."

The telegram was signed by Lucia Trent, who does not belong to the organization known as the Daughters of the American Revolution, but described herself as a descendant of the first Governor of Virginia. Miss Trent's home is in Washington.

"Instead of assailing communists, socialists, atheists and others of minority beliefs," she said, "you should have reiterated the liberal principles of the founders of this government."

"The present leadership of your organization should get out and make way for progressives who have not forgotten what Jefferson, Paine and Franklin stood for."

"Otherwise a new society of descendants of the revolutionists of 1776 should be formed, pledged to fight plutocracy and intolerance."

Mrs. Hobart said she had not received the telegram and probably would not present it to the Congress if it were received.

The D. A. R. today adopted resolutions extending thanks and appreciation to speakers who have addressed them so far and expressing special gratitude to Vice President Curtis "for his strong endorsement of our activities in behalf of national defense and restricted immigration."

Grotesqueness Of Modern Art Theme Federation Protest

Washington, D. C., Apr. 22—Emphatic and spirited protest against the violence, grotesqueness and distortion of so-called modern art is being expressed by Mrs. Howard Green of Long Branch, New Jersey, chairman of the division of art in the General Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Green says: "It is art gone wild and most of it is meaningless. Everything comes out of Paris, the worst and the best, she produces more geniuses and idiots than any country in the world. Just at present, Ultra Modernism, Surrealism, Classicism, Romanticism and the rest is at low ebb. There are no sales in France so the paintings are dumped on America. The newspapers laud the cult to the skies and the snobs pay big prices because they think this art is the fashion."

In order that those who live far from art centers may have an opportunity to enjoy good examples of art, this division has assembled forty exhibitions and these are in constant circulation to all parts of the country and are exhibited in schools, clubs and colleges. The exhibitions include slides of art of the various periods and the division also owns a fine collection of original etchings by American artists. There are five lectures with slides on art in home and garden, two exhibits of pottery and an exhibit of original wood blocks and several lectures with slides on the various branches of American painting. That these exhibits are extremely popular is attested by the fact that during the past year 400 clubs in 48 states have availed themselves of this service.

Of the several prize contests of-fired by the art division, the most unusual is the Penny Art Fund plan in which club women are asked to contribute one penny a year. The money thus collected is used to purchase a painting awarded to the state doing the best work in raising the standard of beauty in the community.

Sterling Girl Is Hostess At Party

Miss Leona A. Goulding, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Goulding, of Sterling entertained ten girls at a 10 o'clock luncheon at the Coffee House honoring Misses Katherine Van Meter, Helen Kirk and Barbara Harper of Moline and Elizabeth Helen Rorer of Dixon. A social time was enjoyed during the luncheon by clever table games, with prizes.

Favors and decorations represented spring gardens. Later all of the girls were guests of Miss Betty Becker at a theater party.

Bushman-Apple Nuptials Apr. 16

A very pretty wedding took place at Walton on April 16th at St. Mary's catholic church, when Miss Mildred Bushman, daughter of Mrs. Louise Bushman of Walton and Charles Apple, son of Mrs. Agnes Apple, of Sterling, were united in holy matrimony. Rev. Father Driscoll, pastor of St. Mary's church offected at the impressive nuptial service.

The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of blue silk flat crepe with accessories to match and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and sweet peas.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Montavon. The bridesmaid wore a gown of orchid georgette crepe with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate friends and relatives at the bride's home. Following the breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Apple left by motor, for points in Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota.

Many friends join in extending best wishes for their happiness.

DEMOCRACY MARCHES ON.

Not the least interesting fact about the abdication of Alfonso of Spain is the fact that his departure ends the reign of Europe's last Bourbon dynasty.

The Bourbons have been famous for many things; most famous perhaps, for the brief sentence that summed them up more than a century ago—"They have learned nothing and forgotten nothing." Since then the very word, Bourbon, has symbolized stiff-necked and senseless conservatism, the kind of mind that refuses to change or to profit by experience.

Yet Alfonso himself managed to reverse the axiom—thereby, probably, saving his country much bloodshed and himself a repetition of the fate of his departed relative, Louis XVI of France.

Alfonso, almost alone among all the Bourbons of history, managed to learn something. Whatever his defects may have been as a ruler, he at least was able to realize that the old order had gone forever. He knew when the hour had struck. And instead of clinging to his throne defiantly, in true Bourbon style, and calling for the traditional "whiff of grapeshot," he gracefully bowed to the inevitable and gave up his throne.

History, very probably, will remember him not only as the last of the Bourbons, but as the first of the Bourbons to admit defeat.

Spain, meanwhile, joins the list of republics, and the ranks of the kings close up again. Hapsburg, Hohenzollern, Romanoff and Bourbon—the royal rulers who have lost their thrones in the past decade and a half make an imposing list. What does their departure mean to the world?

Nothing is more deceptive than a close-up view of history. Judged from the angle afforded by the present day, it seems that democracy has suffered since the World War, despite the toppling of thrones. Dictators, military swashbucklers, proletarian autocrats have seized power. The death of the czar has not yet brought freedom to the Russian. Forms change, but government from above continues.

But the story is not yet all told; will not be, for another generation or so. The ferment let loose into the world by the American and French revolutions is still working. The kings are going into the discard, and the names that once stood for unlimited power and high pomp and circumstance are now museum pieces.

As for the dictators—they are building on foundations of sand. They hold themselves in office by their own genius; when they go, that which they have built will tumble down. Democracy, in spite of post-war setbacks, is still advancing. If you doubt it, ask Alfonso, last of the Bourbons.

ORGANIZED CRIME MUST GO.

Shallow-thinking men have often pointed to Chicago as the most wicked city in the country. Watching the drama between society and entrenched gangsters, they have at times felt sorry for America's second largest metropolis. Such an attitude is not justified.

Chicago is fortunate. The citizenry is crime-conscious. The forces of law and order are gaining momentum, slowly it is true, but nevertheless effectively. Sooner or later organized crime must surrender.

The new mayor, Cermak, may be but an incident. If he fulfills his promises and wipes out gangdom he should be congratulated. If he fails, the drive will continue without him and, if necessary, despite him. The masses are fundamentally honest and with full realization that crime is a great problem they are going to solve it.

The Chicago Crime Commission, now more than 12 years old, is bringing intelligence to solve the problem. Honest lawyers are co-operating. Men like Judge Lyle are wholeheartedly back of any movement that will better conditions. Capone and all he symbolizes will eventually abdicate. Fearless leaders will demand it.

Now, before so-called experts start deriding lawless Chicago, conditions in other cities should be investigated. Many of them have more crime than the Illinois city. To arouse the people and make them aware of true conditions in their communities is a finer duty than knocking Chicago.

In many cases, where crime and corruption is rampant, the real state of affairs hasn't been fully exposed. Let the experts think that over. They can be of service.

The little fishing birds worked fast until the fisherman said, at last, "Well, we have quite a dandy mess. I guess it's time to quit. My birds have done their share today and now I'll let them fly and play." One bird then flew to Clowdy's lap and Clowdy patted it.

The fish still flapped within the boat and soon the craft began to float back to the shore. When it was reached the Tynmies jumped out. "We want to thank you," Clowdy cried, "for giving us a dandy ride and also 'cause we now know what bird fishing's all about."

The man replied, "You're welcome, lad. And, incidentally, I'd be glad to have you join me in a meal. I'm going to cook these fish. I have a small place down the shore where there is always room for more. I will prepare a meal and you can eat all that you wish."

The Tynmies thought this plan was great and one said, "I can hardly wait." And so they joined the fisherman and soon sat down to eat. He fried all of the fish just right and soon it disappeared from sight. "I've never tasted any fish," said Clowdy, "quite as sweet."

When they had finished, back they went to town and there an hour was spent in walking round. They shortly reached a little Chinese school. "Let's go inside," the Travel Man said. "I'm pretty sure we can. All visitors are welcome in the school rooms, as a rule."

And he was right, 'cause, with a grin, a teacher told them to come in. Cute little desks just filled the room and scholars were at work. "They seem as busy as can be," said Clowdy. "Goodness gracious me. It must be hard to work that way and never stop to shirk."

FRANCE'S MEAT EDICT

On April 22, 1917, Maurice Viollette, French minister of subsistence issued an order that there should be one meatless meal each day.

The measure was adopted as an experiment, with notice that if it was not successful two meatless days would have to be instituted. It was not successful. On May 17 a new order appeared regulating the sale and consumption of meat. The provisions were as follows:

1. Monday and Tuesday shall be meatless days.
2. On those two days of the week it is forbidden—with the exception named below—to sell meat of any

NEGROES TRIBE IS MOURNING ITS KING

By JOSE M. MALONZO
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Manila, P. I., April 22.—(UP)—

The Negritos, a wandering mountain people, mourned today the death of their chieftain, King Lucas, the "most venerable high" or one of the three recognized by the United States government since 1902, shortly after the American flag was hoisted over this far-off Asiatic possession.

The Negritos are war like and primitive, the bow and arrow still being their weapon. They are of small stature and black. They wear little clothing. They are the indirect descendants of the Aetas, parent stock of the original Aborigines of the islands.

The exact age of King Lucas at the time of his death was not known definitely although friends estimated he was about 105 years old.

King Lucas ascended to the throne after the death of King Paulino, during his boyhood Lucas was known as Pamellang, a military title known only within his Negrito kingdom. He later held the military ranks of Lieutenant and Captain.

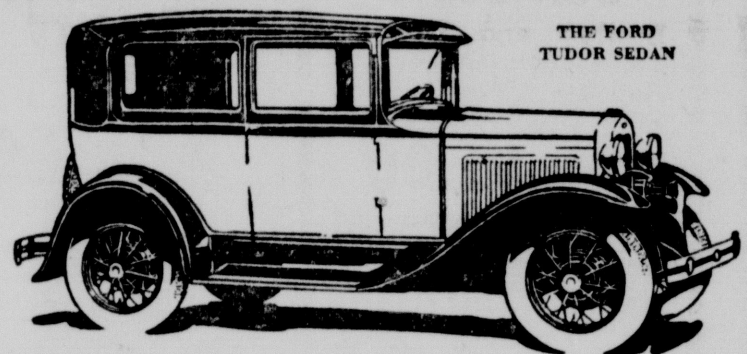

King Lucas was polygamous in his views, but he was survived only by his youngest wife, a 14-year old girl who appeared deeply grieved by the passing of her royal husband. This girl-wife was Lucas' own niece and is the mother of a two year old son.

Altogether three children survive the late monarch. Alphonso, 23 years old, will inherit the crown.

FORD RELIABILITY

Long, hard use shows the value of good materials and simplicity of design

EVERYWHERE you go you hear reports of the good performance and reliability of the Ford.

One owner writes—"The Ford Tudor Sedan I am driving has covered 59,300 miles through all kinds of weather. It is still giving perfect satisfaction."

Another owner describes a trip of 3217 miles in 95 hours over bad roads and through heavy rain and sleet in the mountains. "Throughout the entire trip," he writes, "the Ford performed excellently and no mechanical trouble of any kind was experienced. The shatter-proof glass undoubtedly saved us from serious injury when a prairie chicken struck the windshield while we were traveling at 65 miles an hour."

See the nearest dealer and have him give you a demonstration ride in the Ford. Then, from your own personal experience, you will know that it brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

Basketball Gossip

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Bill McKechnie, a successful pilot of baseball clubs for a good many years, seems to be meeting with success in his efforts to build up the Boston Braves even sooner than he expected. McKechnie took over the Boston management last year under a four year contract, which, he said, would give him just about enough time to change a losing club into one which stood a good chance of winning. The first eight games this season already have put the Braves into the light of a pennant contender.

Boston now is second in the National League with six victories to their credit and appear to have everything that is needed to go right on winning. In the pitching line, Ed Brandt pitched and won his second full game yesterday, allowing the New York Giants only five hits for a 5 to 1 triumph. Socks Seibold also has won two games and old Tom Zachary. Behind this hurling, the Braves are hitting hard and at appropriate moments, averaging nearly ten blows a game.

Rated as one of the leaders in the pre-season dope, the Brooklyn Robins took their sixth defeat in seven games yesterday. Jim Elliott, former Brooklyn pitcher, hurled the Phillies to a 7 to 3 victory over his former teammates keeping nine hits well scattered. Elliott was the first Phil pitcher to go the route this year. Three hurlers toiled for Brooklyn.

In the American League, the Washington Senators and New York Yankees staged 12 run uprisings to make the day's showing rather one sided. Washington slammed the Boston Red Sox around for 16 hits and scored ten runs in the first four innings to win 12-3. Fred Marberry made his first start of the season and gave the Sox only seven hits. It took the Yanks only two innings to get the runs off a trio of Philadelphia hurlers and they beat the world's champions 12-1. Herb Pennock likewise gave a seven hit performance to win his second straight game.

Cleveland had a real battle on its hands before it could join the three-way tie for the American League lead by beating out the Detroit Tigers 5 to 4. With the game apparently won for Cleveland, Jonathan Stone hit his fourth homer of the season for Detroit and brought in three tallies of a four run rally that tied the score. The Indians came back in their half of the inning to get the winning run.

Cold weather in the west stopped the two clashes of the Chicago and St. Louis teams while Cincinnati and Pittsburgh had no game scheduled.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Herb Pennock, Yankees—Hurled steady ball against Athletics, allowing only seven hits and winning, 12-1.

Ossie Bluege, Senators—Home run and two singles accounted for four runs against Red Sox.

Ed Brandt, Braves—Beat Giants, 5-1, giving only five hits.

Jonathan Stone, Tigers—Hit third homer in as many days with two on in ninth against Indians.

Jim Elliott, Phillies—Scattered nine Brooklyn hits, fanned five and won easily, 7-3.

St. Louis, Apr. 22—(AP)—The Cardinals make their first appearance of the season here today, with holiday ceremonies in addition to a ball game on the program.

Raising of the Cardinals' third National League pennant in five years is one of the day's features. Gov. Henry S. Caulfield and Mayor Victor Miller have agreed to try to pitch and endeavor to catch the first ball. Bands will be much in evidence, and the stands have been gayly decorated for the occasion.

To make the day all the more attractive for the customers, the Cardinals came home in first place, with a record of six victories and one defeat this season.

Jess Joseph Haines, dean of the Cardinals in point of service, was nominated by Manager Gabby Street for mound duty. Benny Frey is scheduled to start for the opposition, the Cincinnati Reds.

Pittsburgh, Apr. 22—(AP)—The flag will be raised, the band will play and then, while some 30,000 fans howl and cheer and applaud, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs will open the baseball season here today.

And while all this is going on, one young athlete who had been looking forward to the day, must be quietly in a hospital. Gus Dugas, Pirate rookie outfielder, has a broken jaw. The Bucs were working out at Forbes Field yesterday. Gus was chasing a fly. Ben Sankey, infielder, was trying to grab a line drive. They came together, head-on. Sankey hurt a shoulder; Gus will be in the hospital a week, the doctors said.

SPORT BRIEFS

Chicago, Apr. 22—(AP)—William T. Tilden II and Vincent Richards will meet in one of their series of matches for the world's professional tennis championship at the Chicago Stadium May 17.

Chicago, Apr. 22—(UP)—The first wrestling program ever held in Chicago Stadium drew 17,250 persons who paid $34,419 last night to see Jim London successfully defend his claim to the world's heavyweight title by throwing Kila Kwariani of Russia twice in a little more than an hour.

Londos, weighing 198, threw Kwariani, weighing 212, in 59 minutes, nine seconds hurting the Russian's leg severely; then tossed him to the mat again in three minutes 41 seconds.

Jim McMillen, Chicago, three Fred Grobmier of Iowa; Karl Pajello, Chicago, won from Charles Fox of Cleveland; Rudy Dusek, Omaha, defeated Billy Evans of Oklahoma; Frank Bronowicz of New York won a decision from George Zaharias of Colorado; and Jack Smith, Chicago, wrestled a draw with Hans Bauer of Germany.

Munich, Bavaria, Apr. 22—(AP)—James Joseph (Gene) Tunney, a former boxing champion, and his wife, who are on a visit here are delighted with the Bavarian Capital.

Their round of sightseeing includes a trip up the Zugspitze, Germany's highest mountain, where Tunney intends to do some skiing.

Asked what he thought of Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion boxer, Tunney said he believed the German was still not quite up to the mark in ringcraft to face experienced boxers like Sharkey and Stribling. Stribling, he thought, should be winner of the match at Cleveland, July 3. Tunney remarked that he did not believe Primo Carnera, Italian boxer, had much chance of capturing the world's heavyweight title.

Champaign, Ill., Apr. 22—(AP)—Two players, Walter Schwietzka of Champaign and Robert B. Harper of Denver, the defending champion, were tied today for the lead at the end of the second day of play in the national amateur championship three cushion billiard tournament now in progress here. Both players have won two and lost none, and have displayed brilliant form.

Schwietzka came through with a sensational triumph last night at the expense of Frank I. Fleming, a local rival, by coming from behind to win 50 to 41 in 60 innings. At the end of the first half of the 44th inning he was trailing by 37 to 24. Harper remained at the top by disposing of Anthony N. Clesi of Beaumont, Tex., by 50 to 27 in 65 innings. Joseph Hall of San Francisco, last year's tournament winner, showed reversal form when he toppled Lewis M. Vogler of Indianapolis by 50 to 20 in 52 innings.

BABE IS ANGRY
New York, April 22—(UP)—Babe Ruth is angry about the way a hat-erashery store here has been using his name, which he says is in a "vulgar, blatant type, repugnant to good taste, and apt to bring the name into disrepute."

The Bambino has registered his indignation with the Supreme Court in a suit to prevent use of the name in connection with a Broadway show by Abram Nocks. He says he loaned his name to the show "as a commercial asset" but that when it went bankrupt, it advertised extensively with the phrase "Babe Ruth quits," "Babe Ruth quitting," "Babe Ruth going out of business," and kindred phrases.

DIXON WON FROM OREGON IN COLD; SCORE WAS 81-41

Weather Yesterday Not Favorable For Dual Track-Field Meet

By DONALD HILLIKER

Tuesday afternoon Coach Otto Meidericks and his Red and White track squad of Oregon high school invaded the north side athletic field to engage the local thineclads in a dual meet. The day was unfavorable for the meet, the cold weather and the heavy track, soaked from the recent rains, preventing any outstanding performances. The small crowd on hand witnessed an overwhelming victory for the Dixon squad by the score of 81 to 41.

Of the fourteen events Oregon was able to gather only three first places, the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the relay race. The visitors scored slams in both the sprints. Dixon, winning eleven first places, scored slams in the pole vault, mile run, 120-yard high hurdles and the 880 yard run.

The scoring of the home tracksters was fairly well divided. The leading scorer of the team was Ogan, junior star, who, entered in three events, won first place in the discus and javelin, throws and tied for first in the pole vault. He also ran in third position on the relay team. His total points were thirteen. Next in line in the scoring column of Dixon was Plozman, star hurdler, who easily won both the hurdle events and ran on the relay team for a total of ten points. Weinman easily won his event, the 880 yard run, and also tied for first in the high jump for nine points. Abbot also was responsible for nine points by winning the 440 yard dash and tying with Weinman for first in the high jump. Wolford, star of the weight-tossers, took the shot put with a throw of 39 feet, 8 1-3 inches. He also placed third in the discus throw and ran in anchor position on the relay team for a total of six points. Padgett, diminutive freshman, pulled a surprise by crossing the finish line first in the mile run in the time of 5 minutes, 15.3 seconds. Another freshman, Flanningam, also proved his worth by taking the broad jump with a leap of 18 5 1-3 inches. Mitchell, with a tie for first in the pole vault and a third in the 220 yard low hurdles, Skinner tying for first in the pole vault and taking third in the broad jump, and Hasselberg, finishing second in the 880 yard run and third in the mile, scored four points a piece. Other scorers were Kennedy, second in the 440 yard dash; Bush, second in the high hurdles; Williams, second in the mile; Crabtree, third in the shot-put; Schildberg, third in the high-hurdle and Swelgle, third in the 880 yard run. Talty ran in second position on the relay team.

Oregon's mainstay was Crowell, winner of the 100 and 220 yard dashes in the state sectional meet held here last year. He easily took the two sprints, the 100 yard dash in 10.5 seconds and the 220 yard dash in 25.6 seconds, besides placing second in the 220 yard low hurdles and the discus throw for sixteen points, which total was high for the meet. In the relay race he overcame a lead of ten yards and crossed the finish line about ten feet ahead of the Dixon runner. Next in the Oregon scoring was Cordes, who placed second in the shot-put and 220 yard dash and third in the high jump and 440 yard dash for a total of eight points. Hayes scored his seven points by taking second in the 100 yard dash and broad jump and third in the javelin. Hoernecke, with a second in the javelin throw and Myers, taking thirds in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, scored three and two points respectively. Oregon's relay team, composed of Hayes, Myers, Cordes and Crowell, copped the event in 1 minute 40.5 seconds.

Summaries of the events follow:
100 yard dash—first, Crowell, O.; second, Hayes, O.; third, Myers, O. time, 10.5 seconds.

Pole vault—first, Skinner, D.; Ogan, D.; Mitchell, D. tied height, 8 feet.

High jump—first, Weinmann, D.; and Abbot, D. tied; third, Cordes, O. height 5 feet 2 inches.

Shot put—first, Wolford, D.; second, Cordes, O.; third, Crabtree, D. distance 39 feet, 8 1-2 inches.

Mile run—first, Padgett, D.; second, Williams, D.; third, Hasselberg, D. time 5 min. 15.3 sec.

220 yard dash—first, Crowell, O.; second, Cordes, O.; third, Myers, O. time 25.6 seconds.

120 yard hurdles—first, Plozman, D.; second, Bush, D.; third, Schildberg, D. time 18.4 seconds.

440 yard dash—first, Abbot, D.; second, Kennedy, D.; third, Cordes, O. time 59.3 seconds.

220 yard low hurdles—first, Plozman, D.; second, Crowell, O.; third, Mitchell, D. time 28.9 seconds.

Discus throw—first, Ogan, D.; second, Crowell, O.; third, Wolford, D. distance 90 feet, 4 inches.

880 yard run—first, Weinman, D.; second, Hasselberg, D.; third, Sweigle, D. time 2 min. 16.6 seconds.

Javelin throw—first, Ogan, D.; second, Hoernecke, O.; third, Hayes, O. distance 134 feet, 5 inches.

Broad jump—first, Flanningam, D.; second, Hayes, O.; third, Skinner, D. distance 18 feet, 5 1-2 inches.

Relay (880 yards)—won by Oregon (Hayes, Myers, Cordes, Crowell) time 1 min. 40.5 seconds.

Final score—Dixon, 81; Oregon, 41.

Drugged Bullets Put Deer Asleep, But Too Soundly

Washington—Drugged bullets, fired by an African big game hunter from a pistollike gun mounted on a tripod, have failed to solve the conservation problem of how to capture deer alive in overcrowded sections for shipment to areas where deer are scarce.

Experiments which recently closed near Alpena in northern Michigan were unsuccessful because of mechanical difficulties encountered and lack of snow deep enough to drive deer into yarding grounds, a bulletin of the American Game Association reports.

Captain Barnett Harris, inventor of the rugged or hypodermic bullet, after "shooting to sleep" many African big game animals, was able to bring down only three of Michigans deer.

Two of the deer did not wake up at all, and the third remained unconscious for more than an hour. The survivor, however, seemed none the worse for its experience.

Captain Harris expressed belief that with further adjustment of the anaesthetic charge of drug in each hypodermic projectile and in a normal winter, when the deer congregate in close quarters, his device will "work like a charm."

Michigan conservation officials who supervised the test, have not yet announced whether they will give the inventor another trial. Meanwhile they have continued trapping deer in the overcrowded area with less than 10 per cent loss, shipping 100 to other parts of the state in spite of mild weather.

The fact that deer often die of fright and exhaustion or fatally injure themselves in fighting traps when captured in this manner led to the "sleeping potion" test.

LANDIS HELD SUPREME HEAD OF BASE BALL

Federal Court Decree Recognizes Him As Absolute Despot

Chicago, Apr. 22—(AP)—Kenesaw Mountain Landis' absolute dictatorship over organized baseball was strengthened today by Federal court recognition.

The recognition was advanced yesterday by Federal Judge Walter Lindley, who not only dismissed a suit for an injunction to curb the Commissioner's powers in the case of Outfielder Fred Bennett but recognized him as the "absolute despot" organizer of baseball.

"The various agreements between the major and the minor leagues and rules, constituting a complete code for organized baseball in America," ruled Judge Lindley, "disclose a clear intent on the part of the parties to endow the Commissioner with all the attributes of a benevolent but absolute despot and all the disciplinary powers of the proverbial pater familias."

Milwaukee, through the St. Louis club of the American League, sought an injunction in the case last summer when Commissioner Landis ordered St. Louis either to waive Bennett to the other major leagues, sell him to some other club not connected with the St. Louis club or to release him outright. St. Louis refused, sending him to the Milwaukee club of which St. Louis is part owner, and the Commissioner ruled Bennett a free agent under the rule that a player can be ruled for more than two years by one club without an opportunity to play major league baseball. The suit for injunction was heard in Federal court here last February after which Judge Lindley debated his decision until he rendered it yesterday.

Judge Lindley upheld Commissioner Landis at every point in the legal fight, the first to confront the Commissioner since he took office 10 years ago.

Attorneys for the Milwaukee club said they planned to carry the fight to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Dixon Attorney Speaker Lincoln Day Celebration

A. G. Harris was the speaker at Lincoln Day program at Petersburg last night.

Petersburg is located in Menard county and adjacent to what is known as Old New Salem where Lincoln kept store and studied law. While there Mr. Harris visited the scenes of Lincoln's early life.

The old cooper shop, in which Lincoln studied law, is still intact, also the Rutledge Inn and little store where he was postmaster.

Old New Salem is now a state park. The tract of land was purchased by William Randolph Hearst and given to the state of Illinois in the year 1919, which is now being re-habiltated.

Ann Rutledge's grave was also visited.

Petersburg is twenty-one miles north and seven miles west of Springfield. Students of Lincoln's life should visit Old New Salem. There is cement road all the way from Dixon.

You will be interested, too, in the reasons why so many manufacturers and stores have chosen the Rugged Ford truck and the swift Ford delivery cars. There are many other features on display that in themselves make this Special Ford Exhibit well worth a visit. You will learn about the safety of the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the strength of the sturdy Ford steel-spoke wheels, the comfort of the Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the brilliance of the Rustless Steel.

KINNEY DEFENDS HANDLING STATE GAS TAX ACCOUNT

Deposited In Banks Of Illinois Which Have Favored State

Springfield, Ill., April 22—(UP)—Declaring that he merely followed precedent, Garrett D. Kinney, State Director of Finance, told members of a legislative committee that he deposited state gas tax funds in non-interest bearing accounts with certain Chicago banks as payment for favors to the state in the past.

Kinney appeared before the committee yesterday afternoon to explain whether or not his department was collecting interest on the gasoline tax money each year. The inquiry was made possible by a resolution introduced in the House of Representatives by Howard L. Doyle, Democrat, Decatur, whether further investigation of Kinney's department will be made will be decided at a committee conference this afternoon.

The Foreman National Bank and the Continental Commercial Bank of Chicago, the Commercial National Bank of Peoria, and the Ridgely Farmers Bank of Springfield, were the banks used for keeping the gas tax money while arranging for its transfer to the state Treasury, Kinney said.

Return of Favors
Answering questions by Doyle, Kinney declared that he had never requested the banks to pay interest on the daily balances which amounted to more than three million dollars for several months and would average throughout the year almost $100,000.

"It has always been my belief," he said, "that the place to earn interest is in the state Treasury."

He explained that when the state was trying to arrange some system to save it from defaulting on soldiers' bonus and state waterway bonds, a number of conferences were held with Chicago bankers.

"These banks agreed to carry the bonds for us," Kinney said. "Their attitude was 'we've done a favor for Illinois, now what are you going to do for us?'"

"I said then that we'd probably give them some of the gas tax accounts," he added.

Kinney told the committee that all of the accounts were of such an unceremonious nature that large banks could get but little benefit from them. He said that the gas tax money is turned over to the State Treasurer every twenty or twenty-one days.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson also appeared before the sub-committee, confirming Director Kinney's report on the basis of his audit of the finance department books.

GANGSTER LEAPS TO HIS DEATH IN ESCAPE ATTEMPT

Broke Neck Jumping Over Transom In Fleeing Cops

Chicago, Apr. 22—(UP)—Michael Farrell, 27-year-old gangster, was killed today when he hurled himself through a doorway at the Palais Park roadhouse, to escape the pistol fire of police and fractured his neck.

The victim and a companion, George Ryan, 30, held up two Melrose Park delicatessens and two groceries before invading the roadhouse and lining up six patrons with the employees.

Chief of Police A. M. Leesburg outgunned the pair and arrived with a squad a minute later. The patrons and employees scurried to safety as Farrell and Ryan attempted to shoot their way out of the trap.

As Ryan ran through a side door, Farrell threw himself headlong over a transom. His pistol flew into a corner and he broke his neck. Police found him dead when they cautiously entered the room.

Other officers peppered Ryan's weaving trail through a field with bullets and he broke his neck. Police found $148 in holdup proceeds on him and $47 on Farrell.

When the pair first entered the roadhouse, John Shea, a customer, was slow in responding to commands, and was beaten over the head with a revolver. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

Farrell's wife, apprehended in a subsequent raid on his Narragansett Avenue apartment in Chicago, admitted her husband was a narcotic addict, but declared she knew nothing of his participation in Chicago night club holups.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

"OUR TROUBLES ENDED"

The election is now over. We may now live in expectation of a speedy remedy for all the ills incident to misgovernment and the depression attributable thereto.

No doubt our taxes will be materially lowered, as we have been led to expect in pledges for our relief by some of our officials elect. Home rule of course is in immediate prospect, and naturally we may expect to have our bills for water, gas and electric service, at cost or below.

Then that abhorrent and malignant affliction "The Building Code" will be repealed and consequent supreme happiness will prevail.

It must at this time be apparent to all of us that a building code should have been drawn by legal experts whose familiarity with the construction would have so fitted them to absolutely know what is exactly necessary to secure sound, safe and sane construction. We know that reading law, eminently fits one to be the best judge of construction, methods, industrial conduct—in fact about everything, except possibly the salvation of our souls.

As one who has been blamed more than any single individual for the preparation of the present Building Code and as a member of our organization composed of my sons and myself, also representing The Illinois Builders League in this district, I wish to make known to the public that we do not expect to be injured by the repeal of this ordinance. Neither did we ever expect to be directly benefited by its adoption. I suppose it is almost unbelievable that we might have been actuated by motives other than selfishness in using our influence to secure its adoption.

Acquiescence to popular will if proper information is back of that expression, indicates good citizenship. This is our farewell to an ideal and our hail to the popular will.

Mark D. Smith

Lincoln Pavilion
Will Open Friday

The Lincoln Pavilion will be formally opened Friday evening with the Cotton Pickers orchestra, it was announced today. Manager Everett Holliston of Mendota will have charge of the dances at the pavilion again this season, the fourth under his efficient management. The interior has been thoroughly redecorated and in first class condition and only the best musical organizations will be heard this summer.

Manager Holliston will have the University of Illinois orchestra at his Puritan park in Mendota next Sunday evening. He has also booked the famous Coon-Sanders orchestra for Wednesday, April 29, Herbie Kay for May 6 and Ben Bernie for May 31 at the Puritan Park.

Gangster Dies To Protect His Chief

Chicago, Apr. 22—(UP)—A plot to wipe out the gang of Frank and Vincent McElrath was believed by police today to have failed because Edward Fitzgerald, Frank McElrath's pal, selected to risk his life—and lost it—rather than tell where his friends were hiding.

Fitzgerald was shot down late yesterday by four enemy gangsters—believed by police to have been the followers of Al Capone—in a south-side saloon. When the gangsters tried to force him to leave with them, he attempted to run and was shot through his head.

The shooting occurred just outside a saloon operated by Eddie Courtney, who was indicted several years ago on charges of trying to fix the jury which found former Governor Len Small not guilty of misappropriating state funds. Courtney was beaten severely when he tried to prevent the four gangsters from entering the saloon.

Police said the McElrath and Capone had been at war for some time because the McElraths refused to buy Capone's beer.

Jack Diamond Faces
Charges Of Torture

Catskill, N. Y., Apr. 22—(AP)—Jack Diamond, who has been marked by the pistol bullets of gang gunfire and whose activities have intrigued the interest of police of two continents, sat in a county jail today awaiting release from a charge of assault.

Behind this charge stood an allegation of beating and torture in the dead of night on a lonely mountain back road. The charge, made by a Greene county grand jury constituted the first definite complaint against the gangster since he moved into his Acra roadhouse last year.

Supreme Court Justice F. Walter Bliss issued a bench warrant yesterday which brought the gang leader before him to answer for the story of Grover Parks, truckman, that Diamond, his lieutenant, Jim Dalton and others, beat and tortured him because he refused to give information concerning a load of cider which he was carrying on his truck.

English Aviatrix
Arrested As Drunk

Windsor, Can., Apr. 22—(UP)—Lady Mary Heath, the English flier, was held today in the Windsor jail on a tentative charge of drunkenness.

Police said she had been tentatively booked and that an official charge would be placed against her this morning.

Lady Heath spoke last night at two meetings in Windsor. One of them was a meeting at the Y. W. C. A. The other was a private banquet.

Later, Policemen Alfred Carten and Russell Haggith fired a violent uproar in an automobile which had been stopped in the street.

They investigated. In the car, they said, they found Lady Heath, intoxicated, quarreling with her secretary, Reginald G. Williams. Both were arrested.

LAWRENCE TELLS HOW HE PICKED NEW NAME, SHAW

A Continuation Of Story Of Hero Of Arabian Forces In War

By HENRY T. RUSSELL (United Press Staff Correspondent) (Copyrighted, 1931, in all countries by United Press. All rights reserved.)

Plymouth, England, April 22 (UP)—Haunted by the ghost of his fame as Colonel "Lawrence of Arabia," Aircraftman T. E. Shaw today revealed for the first time how he sacrificed rank and honors, picked a new name at random from the Army list and became a private in the air force to get away from his war-time reputation.

This little Irishman who, as Colonel in the British Army, reigned supreme in the Arabian desert during the Great War, told me of his efforts to forget—and be forgotten. He explained how even since he entered the Air Force as a subordinate, governments all over the world have accused him of being the force behind native uprisings in their territories.

The man who induced thousands of Arabs to rise against the Turks in the desert while Allenby's guns pounded at Turkish divisions in Palestine, deprecated fame, riches and worldly pleasures. He told me how he sighed to be left alone.

"After my job in the Arab war was done," he said, "I went to see a friend of mine in the War office. I told him I was sick and tired of rank and wanted to enlist in the Air Force. At first he was astonished. Then he saw that I was in earnest. 'All right,' he said, 'but you'll have to change your name. Colonel Lawrence could not possibly be allowed to enlist as a private. So I agreed."

How He Picked Name "Then came the search for a new name. 'What about taking yours?' I asked my friend. He protested. 'All right then,' I retorted. 'I'll take the first one syllable name I find in the Army list.'"

"My friend sent for the book. It was opened. I ran my finger down a page and stopped at the name Shaw."

"It has been suggested that I took the name because of my friendship and admiration for Bernard Shaw. Quite incorrect. I did, however, apologize to him for having chosen it. He explained how it happened. B. S. replied to this: 'That's all right,' he wrote, 'the more Shaws there are the greater is SHAW.'"

But the fact that Lawrence changed his name did not prevent reports from being circulated from time to time, blaming him for outbreaks, insurrections and rebellions in many countries, sometimes simultaneously.

At one time, after the war, he had to go abroad with Winston Churchill on matters concerning British affairs in the east. The French government, he said, at first refused to let him cross France.

"In the end," he explained, laughing, "Winston had to pledge his ministerial word that I would not be dropped in French territory."

Another time, Lawrence was blamed for stirring up trouble in Afghanistan. He was with the Air Force in India at the time. The government stood it for as long as possible, all the while ridiculing the rumors that Lawrence was behind the trouble. In the end, Lawrence was recalled to England.

"The trouble was," he said, "I actually was not very far from Afghanistan when the incidents complained of occurred. But I was only performing my usual duties. I could not have left camp had I wanted to. We were in a barbed wire enclosure, under fire most of the time."

Many Accusations "One day a coded message reached camp. It was I who deciphered it. It said I was to fly to headquarters that same night. It specified I was to bring my kit which meant that I was not to return. Naturally I had to obey. When I reached my destination the matter was explained by the commanding officer. The orders came from London. The government had tired of accusations that I was stirring up trouble in Afghanistan. I was to be transferred immediately to another post. "Because it was through no fault of mine—the C. O. made it clear that there was absolutely no reflection on my work in camp—I was given the choice of three stations in India—or returning by the next boat to England. I chose England. I have been here ever since."

But it has not been easy for him to remain here either, he explained. On one occasion he was threatened with quiet dismissal from the Air Force owing to an incident in which he became involved through no fault of his own. An important

Japan's Royal Tourists See Capital Sights

Tireless tourists were the Prince and Princess Takamatsu, royal honeymooners of Japan, on their visit to Washington. Here you see them in a charming informal portrait as they wandered through the house and grounds of Mount Vernon, George Washington's birthplace, on a brief trip outside the capital. With the prince, in the foreground, is Mrs. A. H. Richards, regent of the Mount Vernon estate, and in the rear the little princess is shown with Lieut. Com. Ellis Zacharias, U. S. naval aide to the royal couple.

visitor spoke to him because nobody else spoke his language. The matter was reported as a breach of discipline. The conversation should have taken place "through channels."

"Fortunately the matter was arranged," he added pointing out that after all, it was not in the interests of the Foreign Office: "that I should be made to leave the Air Force."

Despite numerous offers to promote him, despite the fact that at one time he was offered every conceivable post of importance in every eastern territory controlled by Britain, Aircraftman Shaw remains in his subordinate position.

"I like the men," he said "They like me. I know that some officers and non-commissioned officers would tolerate me for one moment if they did not have to. That is why I joined the Air Force. There, discipline interposes between the men and their superiors. Even if I should happen to know more about a given matter than those who hold superior rank, they are obliged to tell me what to do—and I do it. This is something I could not get in civilian life. If I took a job in some place where there is not a barrier between the man who does the work and the man who directs it, I would not last three months. No foreman in a factory would allow anyone to work for him who knew more about the job than he did. In the R. A. F. they can't force a man to take rank if he does not want it. And I can live my life in peace. I can tinker with motors to my heart's content. That is part of my job some of the time. Even though I was once a Colonel!"

Your FLOWER GARDEN

By D. VICTOR LUMSDEN Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

Written Especially for NEA Service and the Evening Telegraph.

Soil moisture is usually the factor which determines just when we can start preparing for spring planting. A sandy soil which is well drained can be plowed or spaded a week or more before a heavy clay will be ready to work.

Here is a simple test: Compress a handful of soil and drop it. If the ball of soil falls apart it is safe to start turning and cultivating.

If you can obtain stable manure to turn under with your soil it makes a valuable addition. Manure not only adds plant food to the soil but lightens the soil and puts it in a more friable condition.

For general use, cow or horse manure can be applied at the rate of 10 to 12 pounds per square yard. Spread it over the garden and turn it under to incorporate it with the soil.

Because of the scarcity of stable manure, many now use garden peat to lighten the soil and improve its texture. This does not add much plant food and should be followed by applications of complete commercial fertilizers. Recent experimental work has indicated that for ornamental plants, a combination of peat and commercial fertilizers may be as effective as stable manure.

Many Fertilizers for Sale Many types of commercial fertilizers are on the market, including those put up in small packages and described as "plant foods." All are good when purchased from reputable concerns and used strictly according to directions.

For general fertilizing of flowering plants a "4-12-4" fertilizer, that is, one containing 4 parts nitrogen, 12 parts phosphoric acid and 4 parts potash, applied at the rate of 4 pounds per 100 square feet, is a favorite.

Remember, however, that commercial fertilizers should never come in direct contact with the leaves, stems, or roots of plants. These fertilizing mixtures are in concentrated form and direct contact will damage plant tissues.

Pulverize the Soil After the manure or peat is incorporated into the soil by a thorough spading or plowing, rake the soil thoroughly to pulverize it and to level the surface. Rake the soil while it is still moist or it will be difficult to break up the lumps.

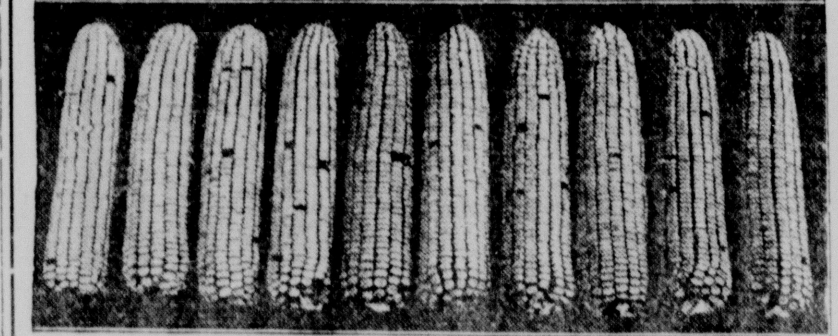

When the peat replaces the manure for organic matter it is best to rake the commercial fertilizer that is used into the top 3 to 4 inches of soil after spading, and during the leveling and pulverizing.

If you have a heavy clay soil which will bake under a hot sun, add some sand or fine sifted coal ashes before raking. This will make the soil more granular and easier to cultivate.

If you plan to plant annuals in a bed in which perennials are already established, take care not to disturb the roots of the latter. Work the soil with a hand cultivator to incorporate fertilizer and prepare the soil for planting.

What Does This Mean To You?

JUST THIS—

You can start now, this year with a variety that you know is right. It will increase your yields.

Controlled breeding has produced this corn which made a record as the heaviest shelled corn ever shown at the Illinois State Show. It holds first place for two years in the state yield test.

Let us explain its merits—

YOUR NEXT CROP depends on your decision now. Queen of the Field, a pure bred certified 100-day yellow corn. Exceptional yielding qualities proven by University of Illinois tests at DeKalb and Urbana. Record at Illinois State Show, 62.5 pounds per bushel. Certified seed $4.50 per bushel.

FINANCIER TOLD WHAT'S MATTER WITH OLD WORLD

Vice President Of Biggest Bank In United States Makes Analysis

Chicago, Ill., April 22—(AP)—George E. Roberts, vice-president of the largest bank in the United States, the National City Bank of New York, last night addressed the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs Association on "What's the Matter With the World."

"The modern industrial system," said Mr. Roberts, "like every complicated machine, may get out of order. While it never comes to a dead stop, when it gets out of order it slows down to an extent that causes confusion in industry and trade and a deplorable amount of deprivation and suffering to many people who are dependent upon it."

"Business is simply an exchange of goods and services. These must come on the market in right proportions. If they are not in balanced relations and the market are not cleared in fair degree, stock will pile up, prices will fall, the purchasing power of that group of producers will be lowered, it will be unable to take its accustomed quantity of the products of others, and the whole system will be disturbed. It is fundamental that normal economic equilibrium be maintained. Ordinarily it is maintained automatically by the price system. Fluctuations of prices reflect the operation of the law of supply and demand and distributes the workers in the various industries and occupations as needed. Sometimes people think that they can get a law passed to suspend the operations of the law of supply and demand. Legislation of this kind has been attempted with disastrous results which throw the system out of balance."

"We want to stabilize industry as far as practical, but if we believe in personal liberty and that individual initiative and freedom ultimately give us the best results, we will not be likely to turn over the management of industry and business to any supreme authority."

"It must be admitted that the modern individual system provides a higher standard of living with less laborious effort on the part of the population than was to be had before this system was developed and that with a much larger population. Where would the 123,000,000 people in the United States be without the modern industrial system and with no greater means of production than existed 100 years ago? It should not be overlooked that the principle of specialization and trade and the importance of balanced relations in industry has the same validity for a community of 100 families or 1,000 or 1,000,000 or for the whole world."

Mr. Roberts gave as some samples of unbalanced production the following:

"Concentration of gold by the United States, which last year amounted to $300,000,000 more than the preceding year. Increased production of wheat by Russia which has caused that commodity to sell in Liverpool in recent months at prices lower than any record in the last 300 years. "Increased production of beet sugar in Europe, amounting to 50 per cent more than during the war, causing great stocks to accumulate and the ruin of many sugar producers, destroying their ability as a group to buy products of other industries, to almost nothing. "Stimulation of production of cotton and cotton goods in this country by the war, particularly in the Southwest, where the total acreage is 50 per cent larger than before the war. The cotton goods industry has been unremunerative since the war. "A surplus of ships with lowered freight rates and all operating costs higher. This is due particularly to the activity of Germany in ship production since the war. "Depression of the building industry, which has caused much unemployment in building trades and industries."

Mr. Roberts stated the industrial situation was probably worse in Great Britain than in any other country because of the extent of her foreign trade. Twenty-one per cent of the workers included in the unemployment insurance system were on the dole. The regular insurance fund was exhausted with an exchequer budget deficit and taxation increase.

Daily Health Talk

CHIEF CAUSES OF GAIN By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

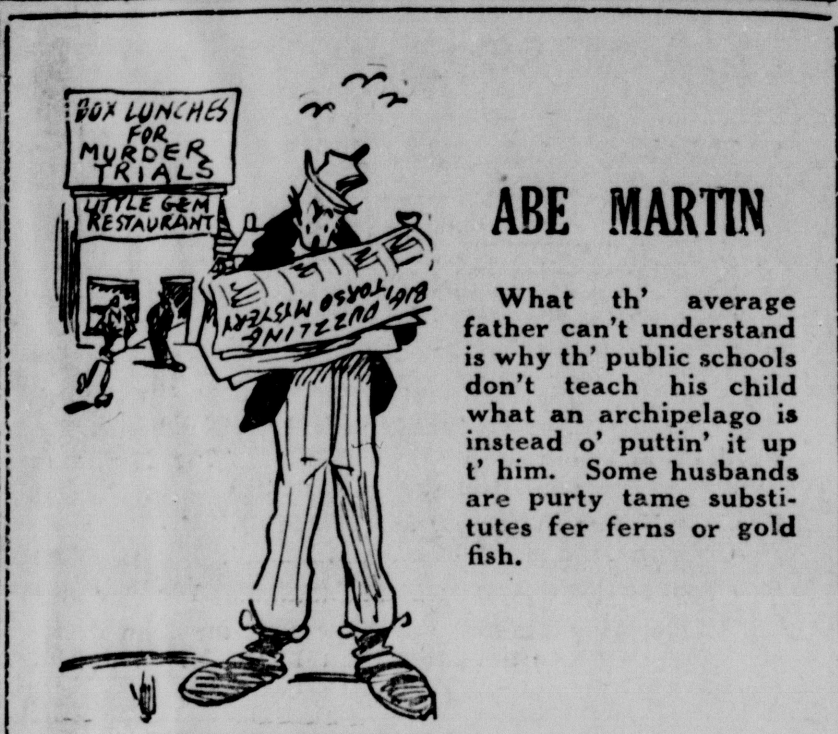

Almost all women now know that strict adherence to a suitable diet will cause a reduction in weight. They have learned moreover that it is just as important to educate the will power as to engage in any other measures necessary for weight reduction.

Dr. D. M. Kremer points out that the vast majority of cases of obesity are those in which the only discoverable cause is race, inheritance, or habits of life. The tendency to put on weight after middle age is a general tendency. It depends largely on overeating and the associated decrease in physical activity.

The other type of obesity is that in which the glands of internal secretion fail to function as usual. When the basal metabolism of such people is measured, it is found to be from 25 to 50 per cent below normal. Associated with this there may be subnormal temperatures and a low nervous tension; this, coupled with lack of exercise and overeating, produces a large increase in weight.

Few people realize that weight reduction without proper attention to securing the correct proteins, carbohydrates and fats may be a serious matter in actually producing malnutrition or deficiency diseases. Under proper diet calculated for this purpose, it is possible to cause one to lose weight satisfactorily at the rate of one pound a week. It is generally recognized that a loss of weight of more than two pounds a week may be a serious matter.

In cases in which the action of the thyroid gland is deficient, a physician will prescribe regular doses of thyroid gland which can be taken by mouth, and this provides the body with the thyroid that it requires. Following the regular taking of definite dosage under medical direction the basal metabolism rate will begin to approximate the normal and the patient will have a more normal body chemistry.

Such control of human reactions represents the highest form of modern medical science, including accurate measurement of the physiologic activities, the application of substances to take care of deficiencies and new measurements to establish finally the fact that results have been secured.

Womens Prison In Missouri Unlocked

Jefferson City, Mo.—(UP)—In a big farm building more than a century old, on the high bank of the Missouri river here, is a prison without any bars, without any locks, without any high stone walls and without any armed guards.

It is the women's section of the Missouri penitentiary, a place where the state's women criminals are sent—and for some reason which not even those in charge try to explain—the place where they stay.

In the past 15 years a few attempts have been made to operate prisons without bars and guards, but Missouri has carried the idea perhaps as far as any state or the federal government. With the exception of a wire fence that any healthy youngster could climb there is nothing to keep the prisoners in.

Not only would the place be easy to break out of, but it has a staff that could be easily overpowered of the women prisoners desired. Five matrons and a man who patrols the place at night comprise the personnel.

But in the more than five years that the lockless prison has been used it has had only one complete escape. Six prisoners have walked off, but five of them were recaptured almost immediately. One other girl who walked off returned of her own accord.

WOMEN ENTER HORSE SHOW

St. Louis.—(UP)—Women are taking an active part in the annual horse show to be held here May 8, 9 and 10. Women from many parts of the country have entered mounts and others will participate as riders. Officials say more women will participate than ever before.
